

Warburg in Rome

By Carroll, James.

Houghton Mifflin. 1 Cloth(s), 2014. hard. Book Condition: New. A director of the U.S. War Refugee Board, David Warburg arrives in Rome at the end of World War II, determined to bring aid to the Jews streaming into the city. Marguerite d'Erasmus, a French-Italian Red Cross worker with a shadowed past, is initially Warburg's guide to the city, while a charismatic young American monsignor, Kevin Deane, seems equally committed to aiding Italian Jews. In this 2014 novel by the author of the National Book Award-winning An American Monument and Constantine's Sword, Warburg uncovers the Vatican's complicity in a plan to help Nazi officials escape to Argentina, and finds that there may be no one in this city that he can trust. "[This novel] has many of the ingredients of a great spy thriller: a high-stakes battle between good and evil; a plot full of twists and turns; a cultural capital both seductive and corrupt; characters caught in ethical thickets; and a moment of existential crisis when all the world's troubles seem to converge on a single point on the map, bringing out the best and the worst in all who happen to find themselves at the fractured center of civilization." The Boston...
